. pdf book hd uebrecht industrial business review hd pdf download.Q: $_SERVER['REMOTE_ADDR']; not working I have the following code in an.ini file: ; newurl.com ; remove www.com domain = www.newurl.com and I have a php script on another server which looks for that www.com. I'm trying to get the ip address that is accessing the php script and send it to newurl.com. $ip = $_SERVER['REMOTE_ADDR']; echo $ip; die(); And I get the following error: Notice: Undefined index: REMOTE_ADDR in /var/www/www.newurl.com/test.php on line 3 Why is it not defined? A: REMOTE_ADDR is a server variable and your php is a client. It will never be defined. To solve your problem you can check for $_SERVER['HTTP_X_FORWARDED_FOR'] to get the ip of the previous server
