I'm a huge fan of the team, the coaches, the equipment, the facilities and how they've integrated itself into the community which is what I wanted to see in a college team and I've really been impressed with all that. "There's only one Heisman [Ndamukong Suh, linebacker, Nebraska], and I've been speaking with him every day since January and he's been really encouraging in my process and I'm going to continue to try to take advantage of his teachings. He's been a great coach in my process and I really look forward to working with him and his coaching staff."John Edenshaw (surgeon) John Hinsmills Edenshaw (born 1698?, died 1762) was a surgeon in Plymouth, England, who graduated from the University of Cambridge. He practiced medicine to the Church of England and was active in providing relief to the victims of the Great Fire of 1766. Early life and career Edenshaw was the son of Jonathan Edenshaw, the surgeon at Chichester. The exact year of his birth is unknown, but a 1769 inventory of his possessions indicated his age as 40 in 1762. Edenshaw was also the nephew of physicians Nicholas and
