Originally posted by blingo: To use the ChaosPack start pcsx2 in the Direct3D renderer(s) and select Chao as your hardware renderer (plugin). Then start pcsx2 (open the context menu in the rom list, pcsx2 > Open) and select the ChaosPack renderer (plugin) in the menu. Originally posted by thomas: I just tried version 1.12 with and without the pcsx2 directx 11 plugin(directx 11,renderer and gsdx opengl on win10).And seems it works on win10 but no sound on win7. I also tried the.exe(not a folder) version without sound. Originally posted by wildhaze: When you guys do this type of stuff would you be interested in making a plugin for compat. a) will that work without patching other plugins (also without the directx plugin)and b) should i really have to use a different version of PS2/PPCGX to get it to work? Originally posted by LLUH: Hey, I know it sounds stupid but do you guys think the pcsx2 rewrite of the plugin system will be already done by 2.06 when it is released? Perhaps there are a few suggestions that could be included. A lot of work is done on the core. Reaching 2.06 could be a big step. Originally posted by cabrillo: Will there be some new textures for Direct X 11 like the SaÃ¶a, the BaÃ¶¹, or the Stinger for 2.06? I don't think this is a graphics plugin. I don't think you get any direct DX 11 graphics. The plugin is for effects or lights and animation. 1. Open pcsx2 2. Load in the CE's and then start pcsx2. 3. You will see the classic pcsx2. 4. A couple of more things for "tricks" in your model. 5. Uninstall pcs
