
Quran In Word 1.2.0

as a former criminal, i am now practicing taqwa (piety) as it is taught in the holy quran. i cannot find another word more powerful than taqwa (piety). i have never known a religion as one where there is as much emphasis on the word of god as in islam. taqwa is not just some nice idea; it is a real lifestyle which provides real solutions to problems we all face in this world. therefore, i am grateful to all the scholars who took time to explain the true meaning of this concept to us. (jazakhallah u khayr sis.). may allah guide us all to islam (subhaanallah) the only true religion. a piece of paper has only one surface. the qur'an has had many surfaces through the centuries. it has first been compiled on a single surface and then it has been written down and then copied and then written down again. this has enabled muslims to have a clear, definitive version of the qur'an that is sure to be preserved. i will not ask for you to explain to me the truths that are contained in the qur'an, since you are better equipped than i to understand them. but i will ask you to explain to me what is written on the qur'an as you read it. i will be very grateful if you will use clear, concise language. i am a firm believer in that the best defence of islam is a good explanation of it. i am also a believer in that the best way to understand the qur'an is to read it aloud. but i will ask you to be thorough in your search for information, to avoid being rushed and to avoid making inaccurate claims. i do not want to give the impression that i know as much about islam as you do, but i want to be a good student, and i hope to learn as much as i can from you. i will ask you to be clear about anything that is unclear to you, and to be accurate. i am very grateful for any time you spend teaching me the facts about islam, and i beg you to excuse me if you have to spend time explaining yourself. if, however, you would rather explain what you know about the qur'an, that's fine too. i will repeat my question: could you please explain to me what is written on the qur'an as you read it? i will be thankful for any time you can spare.

Quran is unique in its form and content. It is a word-for-word revelation and people recite it every single day, but they understand only a few of its words. The Quran is more than just a book with verses; it is a divine communication containing knowledge and divine guidance. Additionally, the Quran is the most popular religious book in the world today. People follow the teaching of the Quran in their daily lives. Understanding the Quran is mandatory for a Muslim to lead a righteous life. The word Quran may be a known to you if you study the holy Quran. The Quran is the word of God, He revealed the Quran to the Prophet Muhammadp which is the holiest book in the world. The Quran is the last Divine revelation which was received by the Prophet Muhammadp over a period of time. Similarly, all other books or books of philosophy, religion, science, art, history, etc., as written by human beings, have improved upon the knowledge of the world. The Quran is the perfect book as it contains knowledge and guidance from God. In the Quran, God commands Muslims to follow the Divine revelation and guidance. Muslims should be aware of the fact that the Quran is the last revelation and the guidance of every prophet is worth following. The Prophet Muhammadp has narrated to us that he is just like a shepherd who feeds his sheep. On the day when the Quran is revealed, the Prophetp left his people and followed the sayings of God. The Prophet Muhammadp explained the path of knowledge by saying that one who does not use the guidance of the Quran is like an animal that acts according to its own instinct and desires. We should know that the way of the Quran is correct, true and just. 5ec8ef588b
